5 reasons to start digitalising your tax process

HMRC's digital tax strategy will demand greater reporting transparency and address the problem of "failure to take reasonable care". The good news is that this strategy also provides a great opportunity to address tax productivity and accuracy. How can digitalisation help?

- Reduces compliance workloads by 70%
- Cuts errors associated with spreadsheet formulas and macros
- Allows earlier filing and increases time spent on review
- Lowers the costs of compliance reporting
- Proves your workings to HMRC via digital audit trails
